

Babbit Bodner – Senior Communications Manager

Babbit Bodner is a communications consultancy focused on helping companies in high-growth mode leap toward their future successes. We're passionate about the ATL community, women in leadership and game-changers. Our team is collaborative, connected and curious. We're in high-growth mode and looking for a seasoned star to lead client accounts, oversee teams and to play a leadership role in helping produce and execute communications programs.

Daily you will:

- Play a leadership role at Babbit Bodner where you will lead clients, guide teams and help drive the agency's growth
- Lead day-to-day client relationships and account activity and work with team members to provide high-touch client service
- Build an understanding of client business objectives and their competitive environments
- Develop strong relationships with media and know what it takes to drive coverage
- Have a solid understanding of how to identify, engage and partner with influencers
- Oversee and develop content for clients, including writing, editing and proofreading materials such as press releases, media pitches, blog content and more
- Be savvy in digital and social media and the latest digital tools and trends
- Participate in new business efforts
- Most importantly, work as a team player

You:

- 8-10+ years of work experience in public relations, communications, journalism, marketing or related field; Bachelor's degree required
- Client leadership skills
- Experience conceptualizing, building and executing public relations campaigns
- Natural ability and interest in staying on top of relevant trends and hot topics
- Strong written and verbal communication skills
- Knowledge of digital landscape and experience working with media and influencers
- Highly accountable and strong organizational skills
- Ability to be cool as a cucumber, work under deadlines and adapt to shifting priorities
- Entrepreneurial spirit, drive and imagination

Benefits and Perks:

- Incredible team, lots of opportunity for personal growth and advancement
- You will be a part of building Babbit Bodner, its culture and trajectory
- Gorgeous office in Buckhead with complimentary breakfast, snacks and beverages (we currently operate in a hybrid work from home and in-office model)
- Company-sponsored health insurance, participation in the company-matched retirement plan and great PTO program
- Encouragement and time to participate in community and philanthropic efforts and lots of fun team outings in the city
